

V-B-2 OTHER EFFECTS

INTRODUCTION

This subsection includes other kinds of information useful in determining the effects of implementing various conservation practices and systems. This information can include university research, useful farm magazine articles, computer simulations or other information showing the effects of conservation recommendations.